The Seaside Chamber of Commerce has started a pilot program in Career Education at Seaside High School. The Monterey Peninsula School District was chosen to receive funds to develop a model for teaching students about the world of work, home, family and leisure time activities. These are each careers in the life of young people.

To teach about jobs and the kinds of careers a student could look forward to in his lifetime, Miss Verlaine Crawford, Executive Director of the Seaside Chamber of Commerce and member of the Board of Directors of the YWCA, was asked by the YWCA and the National Alliance of Businessmen (NAB) to begin a program of speakers at Seaside High. (The Altrusa Club is also working on this project.).

Jim Wester, President of Jim Wester, President of the Seaside Chamber of Commerce, was the first to volunteer his services. He and two employees of Wester Volkswagen, Jerry Smith and Vicky Johnson, held a mini-seminar at Seaside High with 19 Juniors and Seniors. They told about their jobs, their backgrounds, how they got their jobs and about the automotive industry.

The students asked questions and participated in the discussion. Gene Kubiak of IBM Corporation in San Jose, on loan to the National Alliance of Businessmen, helped to set up the successful meeting.

On December 7, the Pacific Telephone Company will hold the 2nd Career Education Seminar of Seaside High. Beginning in January, Miss Crawford plans to arrange 2 seminars per month.

Students have expressed a desire to learn about the fields of bookkeeping and accounting, music and art, engineering, aviation, how to get along with people (perhaps a minister and personnel manager could fill the bill), small business and many more.

This program will eventually be expanded to Monterey High, but meanwhile the students at Seaside High are learning more about themselves and the careers they may choole for their future.

Second Career Seminar

Representatives of the Pacific Telephone Company will visit Seaside High School tomorrow (Thursday) to inform students about career opportunities.

cond in a series of career education seminars at the school, staged as part of the Monterey Peninsula Unified District's Career Education Project. Cooperating in the seminars are the Seaside Chamber of Commerce and the National Alliance of Businessmen.

At the first seminar, held in November, representatives of local businesses, who explain career opportunities to students and answer questions.

Students interested in the industry under discussion visit the businesses to get a first-hand view of operations, Swanson said. As a further step, students may also receive "exploratory" experience by working alongside regular employees.

REHEARSE - Seaside High Students (from left) Rhonda Mosely, Marsha Ferguson and Monika Buford prepare for Christmas program which will be held December 12 at 7:30. Students will perform "A Program of Christmas Past."

In the Main Gallery the 10th Annual Invitational Photographic Exhibition, organized by Carmel pgotographer Steve Crouch, will be shown. The exhibition closes December 31.

Seaside, the first city in the area to be honored in a series of exhibitions, has chosen to show the winning works in their recent competitive who at the Seaside City Hall. A selection of other works will be shown with them. Charles Lee, Art Commissioner in Seaside has been in charge of arrangements It will last through December 21.

The third show, in the Balcony Gallery, will consist of serigraphs by English artist, Michael Challenger. They are geometric abstractions with unusual perspective and brilliant color. It will be on exhibition through December 31.

The Museum is at 559 Pacific St., Monterey. Hours are: Tuesday through Thursday, 10 a.m.-4 p.m.; Saturday and Sunday. 1-4 p.m.

Annexation Plans Are Resubmitted

The Seaside City Council, at its last meeting, decided to resubmit its application for the annexation of almost all of Fort Ord.

Except for a few deletions made for the benefit of Sand City and Del Rey Oaks, the area sought is the same as that applied for last summer.

The land in question includes all populated areas of the base as well as Fritzsche Field airport and East Garrison District. This would add an additional population of 12,600 to the city.

According to City Manager Dudley Lapham this increase would bring approximately $185,000 in state subventions to Seaside annually. There would also be an increase of $46,000 in gasoline tax funds.

The area finally decided upon was one of five alternatives presented to Planning Director William Burris.

The application, said Lapham, will be submitted to the Local Agency Formation Commission in time for it to be considered at that agency's meeting on January 23.

If approved, Seaside's city limits would be moved eastward to Barloy Canyon Road and northward to the northern boundary of Fort Ord, including Fritzsche Field. Not included in this would be the coastline north of Sand City. Sand City has already expressed an interest in annexing that land. An area adjacent to Del Rey Oaks, which that city has expressed interest in, is also excluded.

City Gets License Fees

The City of Seaside has received $3,662 as its six-month share of the special fees paid by holders of alcholic beverage licenses.

The payment was made by the state's department of alcoholic beverage control which allocates 90 percent of all license fee money back to individual cities and counties where it is used to offset the costs of police and fire protection, schools, highways, hospitals and other government services. The remaining percent goes into the state's general fund where it is used for similar purposes.

The most recent payment was for the six-month period ending August 31, 1972. Monterey County as a shole, including the unincorporated area, received $53,798 for the period.

According to George W. Ososke, vice president of the United States Brewers Association, local governments throughout the state as a whole received $4,563,619 for the latest period which, coupled with the $8,103,472 received for the period ending February 29, 1972, makes an annual total of $12,667,091.

GETTING THE WHOLE PICTURE

In 17th century translation, Jesus says, "The light of the body is the eye; if therefore thine eye be single, thy whole body shall be full of light. But if thine eye be evil, thy whole body shall be full of darkness."

Seems as if He was saying that one eye is better than two, or that a single view of the world is better than two. Not true. In those days "single" meant "sound" or "healthy." A modern version of the Bible translates that sentence, "If your eyes are sound...." Jesus is talking about soundness or singleness of our whole outlook on life: how well we integrate, not about how many inputs we have.

The scientist has his own way of looking at things, and so does the Christian. If they look at the same things, they see them differently. But that's not necessarily bad.

Is it better to see things with one eye, or two? That depends. For many purposes, like driving a car, it is essential to have good "depth of field." Otherwise, you would judge distance only by size, an approaching VW would appear no nearer than a distant truck. Depth of field comes from having two eyes set at least a few inches apart in front of your head.

But even a good pair of eyes can give a false image. Proof? Hold your hands about four inches away from your face with the index fingers pointed at each other. If you leave a gap of about half

Casa Munras Hotel Sold

Jack Dougherty, owner-operator of the Casa Munras Garden Hotel, announced recently, that Nick Lombardo and Associates, of Rancho Canada Golf and Country Club, have entered into an agreement to purchase the hotel for an undisclosed sum.

Lombardo states he intends to bring back to the "Casa" the Early California Spanish feeling by refurnishing many of the rooms and remodeling some of the existing facilities.

the "Casa" as it has been affectionately known for many years, was opened by the Dougherty and Storm families in September of 1941, with 35 rooms, a coffee shop, and a small cocktail lounge.

Before this, the three and a half acre estate, was the home of the descendants of Don Esteban Munras, who in 1824 first built the adobe that has now become the Lobby and the main dining room.

At present there are 131 bedrooms, thirteen shop and office rentals, six banquet rooms, cocktail lounge, swimming pool and coffee shop.

Lombardo says that Mr. Dougherty will be associated with the operations for a few months, to help with the change of ownership.

Today's Army NEWS By SSG R. Cardwell ARMY RECRUITER

Hello everybody. Like water? How would you like to prepare a lucrative career as a professional diver? In the next decade the need for commercial divers will soar to unprecedented heights for some very understandable reasons. There will be a great effort to restore our coursing bodies of water to the vitality they enjoyed in pre-industrial America. This will take the combined abilities of many professional people. People with a thorough knowledge of marine life and a strong awareness of the interdependency shared by each link in the cycle of nature.

Some of these people will have to own a special kind of courage that has its roots in the understanding that there is a difficult, sometimes dangerous job to be done. A job very few men can do. It will not be done above water by scientists, oceanographers and marine biologist. It will be done below water by professional divers. These men will, of necessity, be experienced and well paid. Many will have received their training in TODAY'S ARMY.

To qualify as a diver in TODAY'S ARMY, a young man must demonstrate an ability in water that is clearly apart from the norm. He must do this before men who themselves are richly experienced. He is expected to swim 500 yards below water; twice that above it. He must demonstrate an underwater strength that will enable him to lift, carry and manipulate tools in excess of 25 pounds. Divers in TODAY'S ARMY shoulder a wide variety of underwater responsibilities. Their work at various depths is supported by self-contained underwater breathing apparatus. After descending to an underwater work area, the young Army diver examines the object and determines what tools and equipment he will need to accomplish his mission. He may find himself reparing vessels, landing craft and amphibians. Underwater reconnaissance is of major concern to TODAY'S ARMY. Divers collect information on breakers, beach approaches, riverbeds and harbors. There are many more experiences and work they will encounter. And they are rewarding ones. Divers are special breed of men and at times they are asked to assist in the deronation of explosives to expedite the clearance of rivers, beaches, channels, and harbors. Come in and check it out fellows.

Five more men enlisted in TODAY'S ARMY during the month of November. They were: David D. Harris, 158 Evans Street, Pacific Grove. David enlisted for the ARMY SECURITY AGENCY in the Radio Teletypewriter Operator course.

Two more men from Pacific Grove were Kurt M. Perry, who resided at 986-Syida Dr. and enlisted for the Motor Transport field at Fort Ord and Michael J. Baldwin, who enlisted for the $1500 Bonus and will be working at Ft. Hood, Texas after completion of Basic Combat Training.

Enlisting from Fort Ord was Stanley V. Daniel. Stanley resided at 109-Lindsay Road. His training will be in the Administration Field.

From Marina was Thomas H. Adams, 3027 Del Monte. Thomas also took advantage of the $1500 Bonus Option with assignment with the 82nd Airborne at Fort Bragg, North Carolina.

TODAY'S ARMY is where you can began your career. Come in to 431-Webster St. Monterey, or call 372-4742/372-0553 and lets talk about it.

Top CDEC Soldier Leaving Fort Ord

Command Sergeant Major Hal Hulett, top soldier of the US Army Combat Developments Command at Fort Ord, is departing the command for a similar position with the Combat Developments Command, CDEC's parent unit at Fort Belvoir, Virginia. CSM Hulett has served CDEC since May. His replacement has not yet been selected.

November 30 was his last duty day with CDEC and at 2 o'clock on that day, colorful outdoor ceremonies were held to honor him. Honor guard, marching, martial music and flying banners marked the occasion, with CDEC personnel--both military and civilian--attending the ceremonies. Brigadier General Ray Ochs, CDEC's commanding general gave the official farewell during the ceremonies in behalf of the command and thanked him for a job well done.

In the evening, the Senior Noncommissioned Officers of the command held a dinner in his honor at the Chief Petty Officers Club, Naval Postgraduate School in Monterey. Brigadier General Ochs attended, as did CDEC's Chief of Staff, Colonel Warren Sutherland Jr., as honored guests.

The dinner began at 7 pm, preceded by a cocktail hour and followed by dancing. Coordinator of the event was Command Sergeant Major Charles Los Banos of CDEC's Experimentation Battalion.

CSM Hulett has been a command sergeant major since 1967 when he was named Post Command Sergeant Major at Fort Sill, Oklahoma. From 1970 to 1972 he served as command sergeant major of I Corps in Korea where he was assigned before coming to CDEC.

He has also seen duty in Hawaii, Germany and several stateside posts. His decorations include two awards of the Bronze Star; two awards of the Meritorious Service Medal, seven awards of the Air Medal and the Purple Heart. To these was added, just before his departure from CDEC, another Meritorious Service Medal, presented in appreciation of his service to the command by Brigadier General Ochs.

While serving at CDEC, CSM Hulett with his wife Joy and their three daughters and 13-year-old son, Hal Jr, have made their home on the Post. He will remain here until after Christmas, departing on December 27th.

State Finds Discrepancies In Incomes

In a report to Legislative Analyst A. Alan Post, Welfare Director Robert B. Carleson said recently that substantial unexplained discrepancies in reporting outside income were found in 41.3 per cent of a sample of working welfare recipient cases run through the State's Earnings Clearance System.

ECS is a computer comparison of earnings reported by employers to the State for unemployment insurance purpose with earnings reproted by recipients to their county welfare departments for purposes of determining eligibility and grant size.

Today's report was based on all working AFDC recipients and are required to report back to the State on those recipients whose earnings put them in the top ten percent in their county.

The sample reported on includes AFDC recipients 16 and over who are old enough to have a work permit. It did not include welfare recipients on Aid to the Aged, Blind or Disabled, nor did it include AFDC children under 16.

The report said that "apparent fraud" is the State's conclusion when examination of a working recipient's file fails to yield an explanation of any substantial discrepancy and further investigation must be made.

In San Francisco, the only county reviewed directly by the State, substantial unexplained discrepancies were found in 88 percent of 478 AFDC recipients who earned more than $1,600 in outside income during the last quarter of 1971 and were still active cases this July.

The report points out that HRD records include only those covered under unemployment insurance and thus leave out city, county, state and federal employees, the self-employed and those who work only for cash.

It adds that in the period covered by the report, the last quarter of 1971, only about 25 percent of the AFDC recipients were identifiable by Social Security number as required by state law.

Discounting those not covered by UIB, those not identifiable by Social Security number and those who have purposefully covered their tracks, the ECS was able to find 118,756 people on private payrolls out of the 678,681 AFDC recipients over 16.

Of these, the earnings of 15,215 put them in the upper ten percent of earnings within their own counties. This is the sample the counties were required to report on, which formed the basis for today's report.

"I am confident of the deterrent effect of the earnings clearance system," Carleson said.

and inch between your fingertips and focus both eyes on it, a stubby little sausage will appear between your fingers. Close either eye and you see only the two fingers.

You may ask what keeps us from seeing double normally, if our two optical devices keep giving us slightly different reports. As humans, we have an intricate computer system in our brain. It keeps both eyes "tracking" the same object together, and at the same time integrates the two inputs into an image, complete with depth of field. Drugs, or a blow on the head, can disrupt this integrating mechanism and give us disorted images, including "double vision."

It is true, though, that sometimes a single eye is better than two eyes. An artist or a sharpshooter with two perfectly good eyes may close one of them to "sight in" on a scene or a target. Or a scientist using a microscope or telescope with a single eyepiece, will usually close the other eye to blank out its unmagnified image.

Temporarily closing one eye to get a particularly sharp image is a good metaphor of the way I function sometimes. When I want to focus on mechanisms, I close the spiritual "eye" which ordinarily sees eternal values. But to "magnify the Lord" is like seeing through a different kind of instrument, so I squint the "eye" that ordinarily sees mechanisms.

If you follow Jesus Christ through any of the four New Testament accounts of His life is to see our Lord restoring sight to the spiritually blind. The ninth chapter of John shows Jesus giving physical sight to a man born totally blind. This blows the mind of some scientists or mechanistic nit-pickers, who keep trying to get the facts.

Jesus, who was using the incident to teach his disciples that He is "the light of the world," laid these heavy words on the hecklers: "It is for judgement that I have come into this world - to give sight to the sightless and to make blind those who see." When they asked if they were blind, Jesus replied, "If you were blind, you wouldn't be guilty, but because you say 'we see,' your guilt remains."

Scientist sometimes close one eye, peer through their instruments, and declare that in the "real" world only mechanism can be seen, not purpose. But Christians may react against such scientistic hog-wash with their own kind of "vision": they close the OTHER eye and proclaim a "spiritual" solution for every situation, no matter how complex.

Cool it on one-eyed Jacks. To see the real world in all its richness, mechanistic as well as moral, we need depth of vision. It's O.K. to close one eye for a moment of spiritual ecstasy or a moment of scientific obervation, but it is wrong to think you are seeing the whole picture if you keep either eye closed. You also should not yearn for both eyes to bring you an identical view of the world. If you do that, you lose the advantage of depth.

GETTING THE WHOLE PICTURE

God wants us to be neither a "bank of biochemical logic machines" nor an "etheral choir of disembodied angels." (Christ and the Modern Man). He wants a family of fully-human persons paterned after His Son, Jesus Christ. Remember, before we became scientist, or Christians, we were a thinking, feeling, self-conscious creature of His.

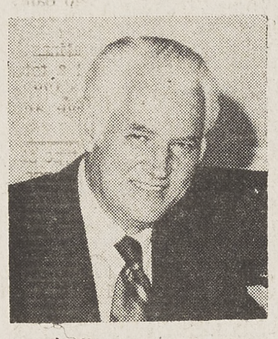
Scientific training accustoms us to serious thinking, to grappling with apparent contradictions, to criticizing even our best ideas in the hope of arriving at better ones.

Commitment to Jesus Christ introduces us to serious praying, to confessing our weakness and sin, to searching for moral guidance, to praising God. But it's not enough to THINK about science and PRAY about spiritual matters. What counts is integrating what we see through our scientific eye with what we see through our spiritual eye. You don't want to be half-scientist, half-Christian. You want to pray about your scientific work as intently as about your Christian witness. You must try to think about spiritual things just as carefully as you think about scientific problems.

If only I were at liberty to relate a true story in regards to the Revelation of Man using my boss, Andy, as an example, I am certain it would aid many of you readers who have not taken time out to "see the whole picture." Andy has been BOTH SIDES OF THE COIN. Can you dig what I say? He has BEEN both sides of the coin. There is only one way for him - UP.

Well - I'm slipping into darkness. Bye for now.

Your Supervisor Reports



Loren Smith

The action of the Board of Supervisors at last week's meeting to provide emergency funding for the Peninsula Youth Crisis Center was very timely. This organization has been carrying forward a program to assist many disturbed and unfortunate young people which fills a desperate need.....young people in trouble have bery few places to turn for guidance. Since it's beginning the Youth Crisis Center has had difficulty in funding adequate funds to fully carry out its work. The temporary funding by the Board is only intended to enable this organization to get thru the next two months. During this short period new and more permanent financial assistance must be arranged. Hopefully the entire Community will rally around to assist in this vitally needed service for our Youth.

While I am writing about needs of young people I would like to mention the good work being done by another fine organization known as The Student Employment Service of the Monterey Peninsula. This fine organization has been doing an outstanding job for many years under the leadership of people like Phyllis Howard who is the Executive Director and Russel Hansen the immediate past president, along with the work being done by Mrs. Peal Carey, Talma Wolfe, Gil Batista and many others. My association with The Student Employment Service goes back some four years and being the current President gives me a good feeling to be a part of this very worthy organization. The jobs provided to young people (over 1,000 during 1972) help many of our youth to carry on with their education and to assist their families by providing summer employment during their school vacations as well as weekend and after school employment during the school year.

If you have a job for a young person, please call the Student Employment Service representative at 373-0143.....you won't regret it.

Chamber of Commerce Progress Report

by Verlaine Crawford, Executive Director

Christmas and good cheer are uppermost on everyone's mind. Beautiful merchandise, perfect for gifts, fill the stores in Seaside! Shoppers seem to be in the mood to buy lots of presents this year. It's really fun to find the perfect gifts for friends and loved ones, and best of all, to greet all you meet with a smile!

Unfortunately, there are always problems to make us thankful when things do run smoothly. Yes, Fremont Boulevard, above Broadway, is in the midst of a beautification and channelization project. City Hall made the decision to begin construction as of December 1, because the bid was low. Work began as planned, and even though traffic can still get through without any problem, the sides of the street, next to the curbs, have been broken in preparation for planters and new trees.

Naturally, many of the businessmen in this area were upset, since this is the Christmas Season, so I went to the City Council meeting on Thursday, November 30, to inform the Mayor and Council that there were several complaints. They were very apologetic, but the construction cannot be stopped until after Christmas, because the City would have to pay an additional $19,000 to "change the character of the work." It all has to do with state inspectors and much red tape. Anyway, the Council will put up sings to indicate driveways. Hopefully, shppers will do themselves a favor and disregard the street and shop at the great stores.

The annual Christmas Decoration Contest, sponsored by the City and Chamber of Commerce, is open and entry blanks are available at both places. The Contest will be judged in three categories: 1) Single Dwellings, 2) Blocks and Courts, and 3) Business establishments. Cash awards will be presented to winners in the first two categories. The Mayor's Trophy will be awarded to the best decorated business establishment. Applications must be in to the Chamber by December 18 at 5 p.m. Judging will take place the evening of December 19, and awards will be made on December 20 at 2 p.m. at City Hall. So, enter now.

Speaking of decorations, have you seen the giant Christmas Trees in the Monterey Peninsula Auto Center in Seaside.... well, they look like Christmas Trees.....the pylons have been lighted, and I think they are quite beautiful. The Chamber is paying for those decorations with help from the Auto Center. Members will help pay, and we are greatful to Orval Mead of the Peninsula Lodge in Seaside for offering to pay 10 percent of our first year's payment, $118. This is the kind of spirit we need.

The City will be putting up across the street decorations on Fremont, Del Monte and Broadway.....four locations this year, plus Christmas trees and decorating City Hall. Should look great.

At our last meeting, the officers for 1973 were elected. They are as follows: Don Butts of Butts Pontiac-Cadillac is President; Ed Fisher, Independent Savings and Loan, is 1st Vice President; Carl Oliver, H & H Supply is 2nd Vice President; Mark Sincoff, Attorney is 3rd Vice President; Larry Nelson, Wells Fargo Bank, is Secretary; and Joe Ferreira, United California Bank, is Treasurer. Initiation of Officers will be held in January at the Officers Club at Fort Ord.

Also, President Jim Wester appointed Bob McCauley, Cardinal Moving and Store, and Ray Stepniak, MBS Department Store, to replace vacancies on the Board of Directors.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Q -- Does VA's loan guaranty of $12,500 or 60 percent of the loan limit the price a veteran or serviceman may pay for a home?

A -- No. Only the amount the lender agrees to lend determines that. No matter what the amount of the loan, however, the VA will guarantee only 60 percent, not to exceed $12,500.

Q -- Option 1 of a government life insurance policy, I understand, provides for a lump sum payment of benefits. Does this mean the beneficiary must take the proceeds in a lump sum?

A -- No. Even though lump sum payment is available, if desired, the beneficiary may take part of the proceeds in cash, and the balance in monthly installments. Or, all payments may be taken on a monthly basis.

Q -- I hear some national cemeteries have been closed and others will soon close due to lack of space. If the cemetery of the veterans' choice closes, will VA pay an additional burial allowance toward purchase of a plot in a private cemetery?

A -- No. The law permits VA to pay only the statuatory $250 burial allowance upon the death of a veteran. Insurance and survivor benefits are a matter of individual eligibility.

Q -- How long do I have to convert my National Service Life Insurance policy?

A -- It can usually be converted at any time the policy is current. However, there are some policies prefixed by "W" that cannot be converted if the renewal date comes after the insured's 50th birthday. In such cases, the conversion must be made before the term runs out.

'Tis The SEASON

To err is human! In our haste to create progress, the Council may have inadvertently hurt our business community all along Fremont Boulevard during this prime sales period prior to the holidays. The Council awarded the channelization and storm drain contract to commence prior to December 1, 1972 and in the process we didn't consider the adverse impact this would have on our merchants. I apologize.

We have contacted the contractor and we have received assurances that all access points to each and every store will be maintained. Further, all possible measures will be taken to delay, until after Christmas, the major portion of the construction project which includes a badly needed storm drain and traffic signal installation.

Last year, we literally blocked the post office with the road construction there at this time of the year. Now, we have torn up Fremont! This is an object lession for us to remember in future years -- like 4th of July week and Christmas holiday period. Again, I'm sorry and thank the Chamber of Commerce for bringing this matter to our attention.

The Chamber of Commerce is busy working on a community promotion, which will be known as "Brotherhood-by-the-Sea," a full week of open house to promote good relations between the citizens and military and business men of our community. The climax of the event will be a special show to be held January 27 at the Monterey Peninsula College with well known celebrities performing. If you would like to work on this event to help make it a success, please call the Chamber.

Christmas Carols will be sung by young people from the Victory Temple Church and Highland School on December 20 at the Monterey Peninsula Auto Center, under the giant Christmas Trees. The Chamber of Commerce is donating apple cider for the singers and audience, so come and share the spirit of Christmas.

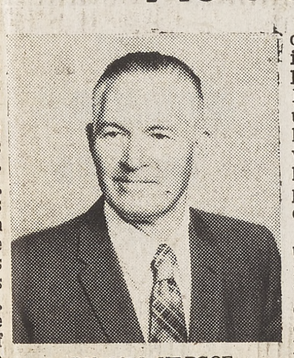
CHRISTMAS DECORATION CONTEST

The annual Christmas Decoration Contest will be judged in three categories: 1) Single dwellings, 2) blocks and courts, 3) business establishments. Cash awards will be presented to winners in the first two categories. The Mayor's Trophy will be awarded to the best-decorated business establishment.

Official entry blanks are availabe at the Chamber of Chommerce Office, 505 Broadway, and at City Hall, 440 Harcourt.

Applications must be in by December 18 at 5 p.m. Judging will take place the evening of December 19, and awards will be made on December 20 at 2 p.m. at Seaside City Hall. So, enter now!

As I See It



BY MEL VERCOE

The invention of the wheel was supposed to have been really a step forward. Without the ability of wheels to rotate on axles our world would be quite different - no automobiles, generators to supply electricity for our electric toothbrushes, alarm clocks - almost everyghing we eat, wear of use in any way was manufactured or obtained by use of equipment made possible by the wheel principle.

And now, thousands of years after some cavemen put a wheel on his wheelbarrow so he would not have to drag it, almost everything has been invented, we hope, and we have to look to inventions not related to mechanical principles.

My most recent brainchild has to do with the celebration of our most commercialized national holiday, Christmas. Each year we hear the religious carols getting a little fainter and the radio and TV commercials getting louder and the newspaper ads keep getting flashier. So, now we really have a problem. Like a wagon going down a steep hill threatening to run over the poor horse tied to the front of it, our gift-giving is finally catching up to us. This is due mainly to two faults in our system. Poor people who could really use a lot of gifts generally know only other poor people who already have problems keeping up with their new car payments, and second, things don't wear out fast enough.

Thus, we should either give up our present friends and make new ones across the tracks so as to break up our caste system, or pass laws outlawing anything that would last more than from one Christmas to the next, or both. This would be a very sticky undertaking, and I have an alternate proposal called the Vercoe Reverse Gift Method.

This method in one fell swoop does away with the problem of what to get someone who has everything, or what is worse yet, what to get for someone who already has two of everything. It works like this: Instead of shopping for days for some idiotic gift that has not yet been invented just because it is Christmas and a time for giving, we simply send our needy millionaire friend a dozen or so empty gift boxes bearing the names and addresses of needy people. Our greateful millionaire then loads the boxes with unwanted and unneeded gifts grom three or four past Christmases.

So, he feels good for having done something for people, and people who don't even have electricity in their homes will marvel at their newly received electric toothbrushes and carving knives. And out of it all twenty or thirty more citizens in the U.S. would be made to realize the total absurdity of allowing such a nice thing as Christmas to become so totally bankrupt with commercialism.

Cops Corner

Ramon A. Daguio

Ramon Daguio a native of the Hawaiian Islands, was born in Schofield Barracks, Hawaii. Spending his childhood in the Islands, he graduated from Scholield Barracks Post High School. Upon graduation, he enlisted with U.S. Army on September 1, 1949. During the twenty years Ramon spent with the Army, he saw various countries, such as Korea, Vietnam, Japan, Germany and the U.S. Ramon's primary duty was that of an Infantry Intelligence and Operations Sergeant. Ramon ended his career with the Military forces on December 31, 1969.

Prior to being discharged from the Army, Ramon was able to visit the Monterey Peninsula (Fort Ord), and because he like the area, he decided that this was the place for his family. He lives with his wife, Gladys and their three sons, Ramon Jr. 15, Garryowen, 11 and Bradley, 3.

Ramon began his employment with the Seaside Police Department on June 6, 1972 where he is presently working in the Records Section of the Police Department. He says that he enjoys his work very much, and finds it comparable to the garrison type duties of the military. During his off duty time, he enjoys bowling and collecting military insignias. The collection he has is rather large, but he is still looking for other insignias to add to the collection.

State Warns Of Phony Hearing Aid Salesmen

Elderly persons are warned by the Department of Consumer Affairs that "Phoney Door-to-Door Hearing Aid Salesmen" are working neighboring states and are expected to be in California in the near future.

The salesmen normally approach elderly people at their homes and offer to administer a hearing test with a portable machine. The salesmen use a hard sell technique and request half of the total price as a down payment or offer a discount if the hearing aid is purchased on a cash basis. The hearing aids are never delivered.

To protect your money, the Department advises:

1. Avoid inpulse buying. If the salesman is reputable he won't mind coming back after you have had a chance to think about the purchase.

2. Compare prices with established firms before you buy.

3. Ask the salesman for a written receipt which is required by law and must contain the following information:
* date of sale;
* specifications as to make, serial number, and model number;
* business address;
* a statement if the aid is used or reconditioned;
* lecense number;
* terms of the guarantee or express waranty.

Elderly persons should be aware of how the scheme works and how to avoid being taken by these unscrupulous persons. If any discrepancies arise, report the salesman to your local authorities or the:

Department of Consumer Affairs Hearing Aid Examining Committee 1020 N. Street, Sacramento, California 95814 (916) 445-4584.

Storms Stop Fishing at Lake Camanche

Massive storms carrying rain and strong winds have stopped fishermen and fish alike at Lake Camanche, reports North Shore's marina manager, Art Price. Those few who did brave the elements in an attempt to fill their stringers found the fish as disagreeable as the weather. There were a few bass and catfish caught by those working their lures or bait deep and slow. A return of good weather should bring the fish back into action and hopefully continue the lunker bass bite that was in progress before the storms descended upon us.

Continuation of the foul weather, although detrimental to fishing, has been a boon to the hunter reports Rabbit Creek Hunting Club manager, Wes Lane. Large flights of Canadian honkers and ducks have come into the area providing the possibility of good shooting for the water fowl hunter.

Welfare-To-Work Program Showing Good Results

A top Reagan Administration official has reported " a high degree of success" with a program introduced four months ago under which employable welfare recipients are assigned to public service work or training in return for their welfare grants if regular jobs can't be found for them.

Sigurd L. Hansen, Director, Department of Human Resources Development, said results to date show that in the six counties where the Community Work Experience Program is now in operation "42 percent of the welfare recipients who had been classified as employable have moved into regular jobs in the private sector."

The program is directed by the Department of Human Resources Development in cooperation with the Department of Social Welfare and the various County Welfare Departments.

Hansen said that, since the program was introduced on June 15 of this year, a total of 2,707 welfare recipients had been classified as employable, of whom 1,127 are now in regular jobs, another 230 are in training and 184 have been given work experience assignments. In addition, another 371 persons had been taken off welfare for failure to participate in the program, he said.

"One way or another, we have moved forward in 1,912 of the 2,707 cases assigned to this program -- that's a 71 percent impact and a very high degree of success in the circumstances," Hansen said.

"In particular, it should be noted that more than 50 percent of the registrants have moved into regular jobs or training and only about 7 percent have had to be assigned to public service work," Hansen said.

"The ultimate goal of the program is to find regular jobs for employable welfare recipients -- help them move from a situation where they are 100 percent dependent on state aid into full-time employment in the private sector -- but if the recipient doesn't have a skill or recent job experience, we provide the means to learn a skill and get some work experience through public service employment," Hansen said.

"Most welfare recipients would rather have a job or be in training so we have great hopes for this program," Hansen said. "Furthermore, the work assignments in the public sector serve a useful purpose that wouldn't otherwise be done -- and at no cost to the taxpayer, because the registrant does the work in return for maintaining eligibility for a welfare check."

Hansen pointed out that the mandatory work assignments are limited to a maximum of 80 hours monthly, "which leaves another 80 hours in the normal working month for the registrant to look for a job -- and this similar to the obligation required of claimants in the unemployment insurance program. If they fail to accept suitable job offers or fail to carry out a job search program, they lose their benefits."

Welfare Grant Is Increased

Pregnant welfare recipients with no other children will be assured of adequate support as a result of an interim regulation which has been filed by State Director of Social Welfare Robert B. Carleson.

Carleson said that welfare families with children currently receive adequate additional benefits when a pregnancy occurs, as a result of Welfare Reform Act increases.

"In the case of the adult woman who has no other children and is pregnant," Carleson said, "the possibility exists that the basic grant may be too low. Therefore, as an interim measure, to insure that no irreparable damage is caused during this period, we will provide an additional allowance of $47."

The total grant under the interim regulation will be $181, Carleson said, plus food stamps, Medi-Cal, and other welfare benefits.

Prior to Governor Reagan's Welfare Reform program the allowance was $148.

"This is an interim measure only, pending hearings which will be held by the Department of Social Welfare," Carleson said. "We will be inviting testimony from all interested groups."

"We want to ensure that truly needy pregnant single women receive adequate public assistance," Carleson explained. "However, I am greatly concerned that an unwarranted increase in benefits could encourage situations whereby it would be profitable for a woman to have a child out of wedlock in order to qualigy for the grant.

Complaints have been received where single women in communal situations or at some educational institution may use the technicality of nonmarriage to qualigy for this type of aid. I hope that the hearings will fully develop both sides of the issue."

Carleson said that the additional grant is being given to make sure no damage is done in cases of real need, pending a final decision.

Christmas Club Checks

A total of $24,041,136 will be distributed to more than 105,596 Christmas Club customers, Wells Fargo Bank announced recently.

In the Monterey-Salinas area, the Bank will mail a total of $775,199 to some 3,179 customers. The average amount will be $244.

State Funds Distributed

State Controller Hugh Flournoy has announced that California cities and counties have received a total of $140,202 from the state in lieu of local property taxes on off-highway vehicles which now must be registered with the state.

Flournoy said the November distribution of $41,858 was the second apportionment since the off-highway vehicle registration program began July 1. The combined payments represent a chare of proceeds through October from vehicles identified with the special off-highway sticker plate.

The Controller explained that legislation signed into law last December provides a $4 return to local areas from every $15 off-highway vehicle registration fee paid to the Department of Motor Vehicles. The money is to be used for plannint, acquiring, developing or maintaining special facilities for recreation activities of mini-bikers, motorcyclists dune buggyists and other off-highway vehicle users. The funds also may be used for enforcement and control purposes.

Half of the apportionments go to the counties and half to the cities on the basis of their population ratios to that of the entire state.

"Since this is new money being distributed back to the local areas," Flournoy said, "and because the entire program is relatively new, some of the law's provisions may not yet be completely familiar to local government agencies and vehicle user groups.

"But now that enough money has accumulated to provide for regular allocations, all concerned can be expected to work out plans on how these funds should be used locally so as to meet the intent of the law."

Flournoy noted that the money the counties and cities will receive from registration fees is expected to grow as knowledge of the law increases both compliance and enforcement at the local level. So far about 49,000 such vehicles have been registered out of an estimated total of one million subject to registration under the law.

Concerts Announced

The Monterey Peninsula Choral Society under the direction of Haymo Taeuber, conductor of Monterey County Symphony, will present the tenth annual Music Of Christmas concerts at Carmel Mission Basilica, Saturday, December 9 and Sunday, December 10 at 8 p.m.

The featured work is the Schubert Mass #2 in G Major, with soloists Morma Jean Hodges, Robert Armstead and Patrick Du Val.

Tickets at $2.50 may be ordered by mail from the Choral Society, Box 272, Carmel, CA 93921. Please specify Saturday or Sunday performance. They may also be purchased at Abinantes, Monterey and at Recreation offices on Military posts.

Assisting the Choral Society, the Monterey County Symphony Chamber Orchestra will perform the "Holberg Suite" by Edvard Grieg, and "Eine Kleine Nachtmusik" by Mozart.

The Choral Society is composed of local singers from all parts of the Monterey Peninsula and from all walks of life. The Chorus, which is one of the major choral groups in the West, was featured in the 1970 Bicentennial celebration, singing Beethoven's "Missa Solemnis" in Carmel Mission's courtyard to an audience of some 3000 listeners.

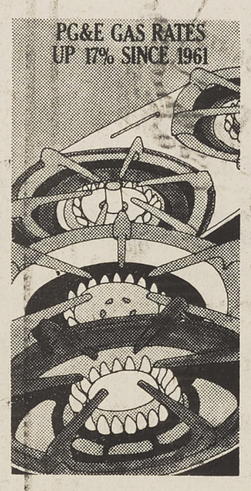
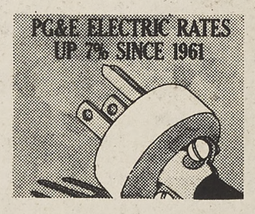
PG&E proudly announces that it hasn't kept up with the rising cost of living.





Compared with the 40% rise in the cost of living since 1961, PG&E rates are still your biggest household bargain, as shown above.

Although rates are somewhat higher, your PG&E bill is bigger these days primarily because you're using 20% more household energy than you did in 1961.

However, rates must continue to rise to pay for new, higher costs of providing service. Such costs include the rising cost of natural gas, more expensive low-sulphur fuel oil for power plants, other environmental improvements and expanded research and development.

We'll continue to do everything we can to provide reliable service at the most reasonable cost possible.

CALCUTTA BEEF CURRY

COCONUT milk can easily be made by soaking grated coconut flakes in water and pressing the coconut dry through a sieve.

1 pound lean beef;
1 pint of water;
1 tablespoon coriander seed;
1 teaspoon turmeric;
1 teaspoon curry powder;
1 teaspoon chili powder;
pinch of black pepper;
a pinch of ginger;
1 tablespoon butter;
1/2 pint coconut milk;
1 sliced onion;
1 crushed clove garlic;
salt;
lemon juice.

Remove any fat from the meat, cut it into pieces and simmer in the water until just tender. Mix together the ground ingredients and pepper and make a paste with a little coconut milk. Fry the onion and garlic till tender, and add the paste, then continue to fry for a further three or four minutes. Add the meat and a little stock, bring slowly to boil and add the coconut milk, salt and lemon juice. Serves four.

DATE ORANGE COBBLER

AN old-fashioned kind of dessert, this is easy to make and a sure hit with the family.

2 cups biscuit mix;
2 tablespoons sugar;
1 cup graham cracker crumbs;
1 cup milk;
1/2 cup orange juice;
1 tablespoon cornstarch;
1 7-1/2-ounce package chipped dates;
1 tablespoon butter;
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon;
grated rind of one orange.

Blend biscuit mix, sugar and cracker crumbs. Stir in milk. Add orange juice to cornstarch slowly, stirring constantly. Stir in remaining ingredients and simmer until mixture begins to thicken. Turn biscuit mixture out on lightly floured board and knead slightly. Roll out rectangle eight by 10 inches. Spread date mixture over dough and roll up from long side - jelly-fashion. Cut 1-1/2-inch slices and place cut side down in nine-inch greased baking dish, or two-quart casserole. Bake in hot oven 400 F. for 25 minutes. Serve warm or cool with whipped cream, if desired. Serves six or eight.

LOADED WITH GOODIES - Mecca Delicatessen, located in Marina Village Shopping Center, can supply you with all popular brands of German breads, imported candies and Schockoade plus Bahlsen cookies. Visit Mecca for hot or cold sandwiches, bar-b-que chickens, spareribs and pizza. It's a "trip" you'll never forget.

Course Is Begining

A 10-week course aimed at helping parents and other adults understand problems of high school students will be offered by the Monterey Adult School starting December 6.

The course, entitled "Counseling and Your High School Student," will be held in Room H-2 at Seaside High School.

Instructor Bedford Vaughn, a Seaside High counselor, said the course will attempt to give parents and interested adults ideas about how they can help with the present and future problems of high school students. It will provide them with practical knowledge of demands placed on high school students in terms of the high school program, the world of work, preparing for job or college, getting a job or getting into college, and then succeeding with either choice. The course should help parents to have meaningful discussions with high school students about school or career plans, Vaughn said.

Vaughn said he hopes to involve regular school counselors, Monterey Peninsula College "Outreach" counselors and students in the course.

Adults taking the course will help to provide subjects for discussion by bringing up their own questions and problems relating to students, Vaughn said.

There will be no fee for the course, and registration can be accomplished at the first class session. The class will meet from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. on Dec. 6 and 13, and each Wednesday evening from Jan. 3 through Feb. 21.

Tournament Is Announced

Announcement of major new professional-amateur golf tournament was made at a press conference recently at the Del Monte Hyatt House in Monterey.

To be called the Laguna Seca/Del Monte Hyatt Pro-Am Invitational, the tournament will be held December 27-30 over the new Laguna Seca Golf Ranch and Old Del Monte, the first golf course constructed on the West Coast.

At stake will be a purse of $25,000 and a top prize of $3,000 for the winning professional after 72 holes of medal play golf.

Tournament coordinator Harold Firstman, head professional at the Robert Trent Jones designed Laguna Seca Golf Ranch, said the Invtiational will not only draw top club pros from all over the country, but also several big names from the pro tour as well.

"If everything goes smoothly, we're hoping to be able to increase the purse to $50,000 next year," Firstman said. "After that, who knows what may happen."

Joining Firstman in making the announcement was George Forbes, General Manager of the Del Monte Hyatt House that will serve as tournament headquarters.

Top touring pros George Archer, John Miller, Bob Lunn, Al Geilberger, Jim Wiechers, Cesar Sanudo, Dick Lotz, Gay Brewer, Dave Stockton, Jerry Heard, Chuck Courtney, Buddy Allan, Curtis Sifford and Howie Johnson have confirmed their entries, Firstman said.

"Because the tournament is scheduled during a slack period, a lot of pros have told me they'd love to play," Firstman said. "The tournament will also give them a chance to tune up for the 1973 tour which begins a week later. We think we have put together quite a package."

A total of 132 professionals will play with 196 amateur partners. For the pro-am competition, $9,000 in cash and merchandise prizes will be up for grabs. Cash for the pros, of course.

Tournament format calls for three-man amateur teams to play all four days together and to pair with two different pros each day. A total of 57 amateurs will receive prizes, or 19 teams. Pro money will pay down through 36th place.

"Last place in the amateur division will be worth a $50 Spaulding golf bag," Firstman said.

"Interest in this tournament has been running so high we don't think many amateur spots will be open after the end of the month," he continued.

Lecture Is Planned

REVOLUTION-WHICH ONE? is the topic of the World Affairs Council dinner meeting to be held at Rancho Canada Country Club at 6:30 p.m., Thursday, December 14th.

The speaker, Dr. John H. Furbay, a Ph. D. from Yale, is Senior specialist for the U.S. office of Education, Fellow of the Royal Anthropological Institute, and recipient of the Brewer Aviation Trophy. He taught in several universities from Connecticut to Hawaii before serving as President of the College of West Africa in Liberia and as lecturer at the World Seminar at Geneva, Switzerland. He is a world-renowned traveller, lecturer and philosopher.

The public is invited, but reservations are required. (Members, $5.00 and non-members $6.50) Telephone Mrs. Nancy Thomas at 624-9735 by Tuesday December 12th.

Sidelights of the 7th Division

Stilwell Hall

Stilwell Hall owes its existence in great part to the inspiration, energies and efforts of the 7th Infantry Division and its men.

It was designed by 1st Lt. Savo Stoshitch, 13th Engineers, and 2nd Lt. Orville W. Pierce, 74th Field Artillery. Both were architects.

MajGen. Joseph W. Stilwell, who commanded the 7th Division after it was reactivated in 1940 at Ft. Ord, told the Panorama in September, 1941:

"This project was started on the basis that it was high time to stop talking about suitable recreational facilities of enlisted men....and to begin doing something about it."

The $500,000 enlisted men's club was the only building in a proposed post recreation complex to be completed. Original plans also called for gymnasium, stadium, NCO Club, tennis courts and athletic fields, as well as a chapel.

Retired General Lyman L. Lemnitzer, who commanded the 7th Infantry Division in Korea from December 1951 to July 1952, will be the principal speaker here at next Wednesday's welcoming ceremony for the 7th Division's colors. He was awarded the Silver Star Medal for "conspicuous gallantry" while leading the Division in fighting in the Chorwon Valley. The public is invited to the honor guard ceremony, planned for 11 a.m. on the Post Headquarters Parade Field.

Insignia

The insignia of the 7th Infantry Division consists of two black equilateral triangles placed vertically on a red circular disc.

The double triangle was designed in World War I when the War Department required each division to mark its baggage with a distinctive design easily recognizable at a glance, but containing no numeral or other feature that could possibly identify the organization. Simplicity and distinctiveness were the only considerations.

The design of the 7th Division patch consists of one numeral 7 corssed by another 7 inverted, thus forming the two triangles.

Later, in France, all divisions were directed to adopt distinctive insignia for use as shoulder patches on the uniform. The division commander, BrigGen. C.H. Barth, called for designs and finally approved the suggestion of Major R.D. Avery that the original double triangle be superimposed upon a circular red base.

Golf Course

Ft. Ord's original championship golf course was named the Bayonet Course in honor of the 7th Infantry "Bayonet" Division, which trained at Ft. Ord before entering combat in the Pacific Theater in WW II.

The Bayonet course is 6,966 yards long when played from the championship blue tee markers and 6,677 yards long from the white markers. In each case, par is 72 and is seldom shattered. The competitive course record is a 68, shot by former Ft. Ord Soldier Jack Laxson.

Each year the leading professional golfer in town for the Crosby clambake spend the day before the Crosby playing an exhibition round on the Bayonet Course. These golfers, to a man, proclaim the quality of the course.

Marine Recruiters Visit MPC Campus

Today, the Marines are looking for a few good men, building the fundamentals of leadership through their officer training programs. As a college student or recent graduate, you may be eligible to participate in one of the many leadership programs available, both ground and aviation oriented.

Of primary interest to freshmen, sophomores and juniors is the Platoon Leaders Class (Aviation, Ground and Law) programs, which involves training with pay only during the summer. No military classes, drills, or weekend meetings are required during the school year. You receive your commission upon receipt of your Baccalaureate Degree, and you may disenroll any time before accepting that commission, with no further obligation to the Marine Corps. After commissioning, you will receive advanced training as either a ground or an aviation officer.

College seniors and graduates may apply for Officer Candidate School in both aviation and ground fields and train during one summer. Qualified junior college graduates the students who have completed the equivalent of sixty transferrable semester hours of college may apply for the Ground or Aviation (Scholarship) programs.

Also available for selected Platoon Leaders Class program applicants is the $100 per month Financial Assistance Program and the Civilian Pilot Training program. Do you think enough of yourself to accept the challenge and the responsibility of being one of the finest? Of being a Marine Corps Officer?

Captain Larry S. Roadman, a Marine Officer Selection Officer from San Francisco, will be visiting the Monterey Peninsula College campus on December 6 and 7 from 9a.m. to 3 p.m.

Moss Landing Road Closed

Road Commissioner Bruce W. McClain has announced that Moss Landing Road will be temporarily closed between Sandholdt Road and State Highway No. 1 for the purpose of placing a 51" outfall line from the Kaiser Plant to the Pacific Ocean. The work will be done by the Peter Kiewit Sons' Company.

The road is scheduled to be closed through December 29, 1972. It is suggested that through traffic use the Moss Landing Road from its intersection with State Highway No. 1 and Portrero Road to its intersection with Sandholdt Road on the north.

When you have finished with your copy of the POST, pass it along to a friend or relative.

Art Display In City Hall Announced

This month Hobbit Mines International of Big Sur is presenting an outstanding collection of local handcrafted provincial art and artifacts in the foyer at Seaside City Hall. On display through New Year's are selected Big Sur Indian jade tools, gold from the Los Burros Mining District, silver ingots from the Hobbit Mines, native gold and Monterey Jade Jewelry, together with an educational arrangement of South Coast handcrafts.

Their prized Pacific Blue Jade will be featured. This rare blue gemstone is found nowhere else in the world. It's value is nearly half that of gold. Flawless gemstones of this mineral are displayed set into handwrought solid gold rings, necklets, and jeweled accessories -- each one-of-a-kind -- known as "Canyon Originals."

Janet and Edward Jones of Hobbit Mines, Big Sur, have arranged with C.Y. Lee, chairman of the Seaside Art Commission, a colorful illuminated handcrafts presentation in a Christmas theme. Mr. and Mrs. Jones have discovered and operated a jade and gold mine in the Santa Lucia mountains, where they cut and polish gem stones by hand, and create their "Canyon Originals" gold wire jewelry. Each piece is woven of precision square wire -- without solder or welding! They say the art-form dates back to Etruscan sapphire, lapis lazuli, turquoise, and dozens of other rare gems are shown.

Much older are the fine Indian artifacts of jade, unearthed from a burial site near Jade Cove, Monterey County. Some of these handsome tools are of the rare Pacific Blue Jade color. These represent the oldest pre-Columbian jade artifacts discovered north of Honduras, Central America. Indian arrowheads, of obsidian, are gilded on the edge with 21-karat gold, and made into lovely pendants with handsome chain.

Stereo Repair Shop Opens

Monterey County's newest and most unique electronic stereo and hi-fi repair facility will have its grand opening this Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, December 7, 8, and 9, at which time free gift certificates will be given to all visitors.

Claiming to be the finest equipped and instrumented stereo and hi-fi repair facility in Monterey County, BHB Electronics Incorporated, located at 612 Figueroa in Monterey specializes in the design, engineering and restoration of stereo and hi-fi equipment of all kinds.

B.H. Bow, company president, states that he does not sell new equipment, but would rather make presently owned equipment work like new. He believes that it is a mistake for persons to spend money on new stereo and hi-fi equipment when their present sets can be restored to match their original performance at a small fraction of the cost of new equipment.

Bow emphasizes that almost any well made, quality engineered stereo or hi-fi product, no matter how old, can be restored to its original high quality of performance; and he backs up this statement with a generaous 120 day guarantee covering all parts and workmanship. This statement fits well with the company's motto, which is "our first consideration is quality."

"The outward appearance of an older set that can be restored to high fidelity sound need not deter a person from having it repaired," says Mr. Bow, "since the sound is most effective when the source is not visible. By re-installation and concealment, we place the emphasis on the music, where it belongs, so that the model or appearance of the equipment need not be important."

Mr. Bow invites everyone to see his repair facility and equipment furing the Grand Opening, and to avail himself of the free gift certificates available to all comers, but limited one to a person.

Phone Call Can Establish Filing Date

People can now establish an application filing date for monthly social security payments in certain circumstances by making a telephone call to any social security office, according to Thomas Pelkey, social security district manager in Monterey, California.

"Dates of application for benefits should be established when it appears you may not be able to return a signed application to social security until the following month and may lose some benefits," Mr. Pelkey said. "And when you call, you must express your intention to claim benefits."

"The date you apply for social security benefits can be important," Mr. Pelkey said, "especially if retroactive payments are involved."

People who fail to apply for social security payments at the time they become eligible may be able to get back payments--but only for up to 12 months before the month they apply. "The date of application helps determine how many months can be paid in back payments." Mr. Pelkey said.

Previously the date was established by the postmark on a written inquiry about benefits or the time a written application was received in a social security office.

"Now," Mr. Pelkey said, "it can be established by a phone call to any social security office. The procedure should be especially helpful to people whose application involves back payments."

"In Monterey, California," Mr. Pelkey said, "applications for social security payments can be made at the social security office at 399 Lighthouse Avenue, Monterey, California 93940.

Food Drive Was Success

The annual Thanksgiving food drive conducted by the Monterey Peninsula Unified School District's Community Counseling Office resulted in food baskets for 62 Peninsula families this year, according to Mrs. Marion Woodie, community counselor.

The baskets were distributed to needy families on November 21. The project was carried out with the help of the Highland School PTA.
